Blue Ash-based Wornick Co. is one of three suppliers of military food rations receiving a five-year contract with a maximum value of more than $2 billion from the Department of Defense logistics agency.

Wornick's contract has a maximum value of $2.3 billion. The largest contract was with Ameriquel Group of Evansville, Ind., with a maximum value of $2.45 billion and the third contract was with Sopakco Inc. of Mullins, S.C., with a maximum value of $2.28 billion.

All the firm-fixed price contracts are to supply meals, ready-to-eat and humanitarian ration cases for U.S. defense forces and civilian agencies and run through November, 2016.
