The Workforce Network is excited to announce that Scott Ellsworth of Tipco Punch and Liza Smitherman of Jostin Concrete have been named Chairs of the Advanced Manufacturing and Construction Career Pathway Partnership Teams, respectively.

Scott is VP of U.S. Operations for Tipco Punch, a Hamilton, Ohio manufacturer and distributor of tooling components and special small lot, high precision machined parts. Scott is also a founding member and Chairman of the Southwest Ohio Manufacturers, as well as past chairman of the Greater Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and the Hamilton Economic Development Committee.

Liza is VP of Professional Development for Jostin Concrete Construction, a first generation, family-owned business, and a Partner in Brewster Pumping, a subsidiary of Jostin Concrete. At Jostin, she provides leadership in the planning and directing of programs for all human resource areas within the company. Liza is also active in community organizations such as Easter Seals Work Resource Center and City Gospel Mission.

Scott and Liza will also represent their teams on the GCWN Leadership Council. The Workforce Network thanks Scott and Liza for their tremendous leadership and dedication!
